

Kia ora e te whana

Wow, what a tough week. Thank you to all the whanau who came to tautoko, share and provide morning tea for ERO on Monday. It was great to see you all here. They were here to close off their last ERO visit and set up for the new way ERO will be working with the kura and reporting to our whanau and the wider community.

Lice

Please be vigilant about checking your child's hair for LICE. Whaea Ra will order some more Nit Buster to help contain the little rascals.

Life Education

We invited Life Ed to our kura to cover friendship for our teina and Pubertal Change for seniors. The students thoroughly enjoyed the lessons and laughed with Harold.

Graduate Profile

I am in the process of drafting our student graduate profile for our localised Upokorehetanga curriculum. I would appreciate your thoughts and participation by collectively designing our graduate profile.

Te Marautanga o Aotearoa defines a graduate profile as;

"..a collective vision for student learning that is shaped by whānau, hapū, iwi, and kura. High levels of educational and socio-cultural success, a wide range of life skills, and a wide range of career choices are promoted as important outcomes"

Please add your thoughts to the table below;

Priorities What is important to you	Values	Future Focus
Whakapapa- Children know who they are, where they come from, pepeha Understand their history, Te reo me ona tikanga, How	Active participants in society Good character, Respectful of others Resilient Demonstrate leadership skills	To be literate and numerate Make progress in their learning Reach their full potential
